NEW SCHOOL OPENED MONDAY

BUILDING IS MODEL OF COMPLETENESS.

Speech Making and School Songs Marked the Opening Hours.

The long hoped for school building for the patrons and pupils, living on the south side of the river, is finished and its doors were thrown open to the pupils on Monday morning of this week.

This marks an important event in the history of the schools of this city, and is significant of the fact that we are advancing and not laying dormant in the matters pertaining to the education of our children. It also shows that our town is growing, and instead of being a village of 1776 inhabitants, we are going to reach well up to the 2,500 mark before the next census is taken.

The structure is built of brick, is well lighted and ventilated. It has a

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH MAKES APOLOGY.

Says That Condition in Grayling Is More Favorable Than Reported.

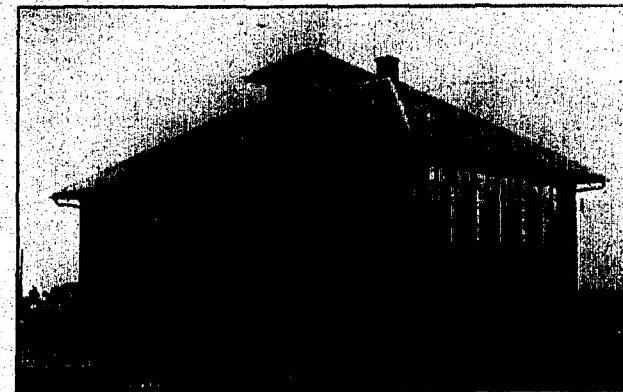

That the State Board of Health had made an error in their report, issued in their last bulletin, on the sanitary and civic conditions of your city made after the visit of the Food and Health special train. I just want to say I was mistaken; that I was too severe in my criticism. From a better knowledge and information of Grayling, I am convinced that her city officials, her health officer, her sanitary and civic folk deserve more praise than criticism. I'm glad to make this statement in relation to a people who are, I am convinced, doing their best under existing conditions to maintain sanitary and civic conditions.

Very truly yours,
D. E. McCORMICK,
Assistant Secretary.

This explanation by the State Board, and the attitude that they have taken in the matter, will surely please our people. We feel that they have been fair and just.

While we have an excellent start in the right direction in regard to sanitary conditions, there are still some isolated places in Grayling that need renovating. In many places weeds are allowed to grow perniciously and yards are uncared for and dirty. Filthy stables and dirty back yards are a danger to their occupants and unsanitary, as well as unpleasant to look at.

Grayling is a city free from disease and perhaps the most healthful city in the state, and we can continue to have this distinction by only following out the orders of the health boards of the state and village. The local civic authorities are doing excellent work and it is for every individual to do his part in order to make their efforts a success.

GRAYLING SOUTH SIDE SCHOOL

high ceiling basement, divided into two compartments, one for the boys and one for the girls, each containing toilets and lavatories. A wide hall divides the main floor of the building, and is arranged for pupils' ward robes.

The recitation and study rooms are so arranged that the lighting is at the left of the pupils, and six large windows take up the entire side of the rooms, and admit a flood of day light. The black boards are tilting of genuine slate and built on the very latest plan which greatly dispenses of the glare that is so distressing to the eyes. The interior is finished in a combination of brown and buff colors and is beautiful.

The seats are of the very latest type and adjustable to fit the convenience of each individual occupant. Also the desks of each seat is adjustable and independent of the seat in front. Each room and hall is equipped with sanitary drinking fountains. The rooms are heated by hot air and a thermostat automatically opens and closes the drafts, as the occasion may demand.

The building has an up-to-date sewer system and an air pressure water system.

Miss Louise Trevegno will teach the third and fourth grades and Miss Clella Clark the first and second grades. Several visitors were present at the opening hour, including Superintendent Ellsworth, several members of the board and others.

Short speeches were made by Superintendent Ellsworth, Director Bates, Rev. Gillies and Rev. Hutton. The children rendered some of their school recitations and songs, which made the informal opening of the new South Side school a pleasant and interesting affair.

The school has a capacity of about 100 pupils and there are present about 90 enrolled, and several more pupils are expected to enter during the school year.

A Proclamation by the Governor.

Just a "thank you" thrills the heart of the receiver and reveals the kindness of the giver. Gratitude is contagious, gratitude enriches the home and the state; gratitude makes life worth living. During the past year Michigan has shared with the Nation in peace and prosperity, in civic and religious progress, in an appreciation of health and sanity. The firesides of Michigan have had the courage and faith that conquers. To God, the source of all power, it is fitting that we devote one day to praise and thanksgiving in the spirit that shall brighten and beautify all the days of all the years to come.

THURSDAY, 1 Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby join the President of the United States in designating Thursday, the 27th of November, as a day for all the people of this Commonwealth to celebrate in thanksgiving and prayer.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this tenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, and the Commonwealth the seventy-seventh.

WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS,
Governor.

Augustus H. Annis.

Augustus H. Annis was born in Washington county, Indiana, February 17, 1833, and was the son of Jas. W. and Elizabeth Annis.

When a boy he moved with his parents to northern Indiana and located in St. Joseph county. He was the 9th in the family of 17 children who have all passed away except three. He was raised on a farm, and was given only such education as public schools in that day afforded. He took up the carpenters' trade and followed it until he was married, and then agriculture and lumbering for a number of years.

In 1851 he was united in marriage with Miss Nancy J. Kirkendall of Indiana. To them were born ten children—Clara, Estella, Milton and Laura, deceased; Jasper, E. and Minnie (Newman,) of South Branch, Ind.; Ada (Doane,) of Adrian, Mich.; Annette (Kniss,) Kalkaska county, Mich.; Geo. R. and Rosette (Manning) of Crawford county, Mich.

In the year of 1882 he moved to Michigan and settled in Crawford county and built the first house in Beaver Creek and resided there on his farm till death came. In politics, Mr. Annis was a staunch Republican. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Gleaners, also of the G. A. R. Post in Grayling.

He enlisted in Co. C, 73rd Indiana Infantry and served from 1862 until the close of the war. First as a private then corporal and at the close he received an honorable discharge from the ranks as sergeant.

Mr. Annis was a sufferer of heart disease. All that medical science could do, was done for him but without avail, he quietly passed away into that last dreamless sleep, Sept. 10th, 1908. He was an enterprising citizen and was always ready to assist in any way for worthy cause, and is greatly missed in the community where his long and useful life was spent.

Wanted—in the high school, a sure remedy for coughs and colds.

The modern history class is doing library work on French and Spanish history.

The American literature class has completed Carlyle's "Essay on Burns" and begun the study of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

The next number on the school entertainment course will be given by the Metropolitan Musical club at the opera house on Thursday evening, Nov. 27th.

School opened on the South Side Monday morning with Miss Clark and Miss Trevegno as teachers and Ray Rogers as janitor. Three members of the board of education, Rev. Gillies, Rev. Hutton and several mothers were present. Informal talks were given by Mr. Bates, Rev. Hutton, Rev. Gillies and Mr. Ellsworth. The children contributed to the program by singing school songs. Despite the unfavorable weather, things started off quite auspiciously.

The Grayling schools have just received a very valuable gift. It consists of one thousand of the noted Underwood & Underwood stereographic views, one dozen stereoscopes, together with a neat cabinet for the views and a case for the scopes. The gift comes as a surprise to the pupils and teachers. The outfit will be a most excellent help in the study of geography, history and physical geography. No one who has not seen the difference between a stereograph and an ordinary photographic view, can comprehend the value of this collection. The donor is one of our townswomen, Mrs. R. Hanson, who makes the gift entirely from the kindness and generosity of her heart. It is one way she has of expressing her interest in the welfare of the boys and girls of Grayling.

NO PROHIBITION FIGHT IN STATE

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ABANDONS PLANS FOR DRY ELECTION.

WILL WORK FOR FRIENDLY LEGISLATURE.

Hope to Ratify The Amendment to National Constitution Providing for Prohibition Now Before Congress.

Detroit—Michigan is not going to have an opportunity to vote as a whole on the question of state-wide constitutional prohibition in 1914, as has been repeatedly announced since the initiative and referendum clause was added to the Michigan state constitution, if the anti-saloon league has its way about it.

Acting under instructions from National Superintendent Purley A. Baker, of the Anti-Saloon league, the board of trustees of the Michigan State Anti-Saloon league at its meeting in the local Y. M. C. A., passed a resolution shelving the statewide initiative and referendum fight for prohibition and announcing that it intends to go "gunning" for a "dry" legislature next fall that will enable Michigan to ratify the proposal for national prohibition when it is submitted to the states. Rep. Richard Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, now has a bill before congress providing that a prohibition amendment shall be added to the federal constitution when 36 state legislatures shall have ratified it.

John E. Carr, of Adrian, displaced J. E. Hammond, of Lansing, as a member of the headquarters committee of the league.

Crop Reports for State. Lansing, Mich.—The monthly crop report issued by Secretary of State Martindale shows a total of 12,121,491 bushels of wheat raised in Michigan this year. Other crops were as follows: Corn, 53,513,088; oats, 44,384,119; barley, 2,045,360; rye, 5,133,182; buckwheat, 853,060; potatoes, 8,848,040; beans, 4,932,621; peas, 1,194,446; clover seed, 234,898; apples, 19,356,039; peaches, 2,438,315; pears, 760,678; plums, 335,462; cherries, 953,616; strawberries, 406,460; raspberries and blackberries, 516,541.

Seven hundred and fifty-seven thousand five hundred and eleven tons of sugar beets were raised and 2,183,817 tons of hay and forage. The report says it is difficult to get estimates on the amount of grapes raised, but it is estimated at 78,000,000 pounds, of which more than half were produced in Van Buren county.

Governor Appoints Delegates.

Lansing, Mich.—Governor Ferris has appointed the following delegates from Michigan to represent the state at the tenth annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, in Washington, Dec. 3, 4, 5; James J. Lynn and Capt. Frank H. Dancer, Port Huron; Capt. W. C. Brown, St. Clair; F. W. Fletcher, W. P. Harris, Ralph E. Gilchrist, F. A. Kimball, F. L. Richardson, and Robert B. Raymond, Alpena; Capt. Murray McIntosh, William B. Thompson, Geo. E. Greening, John J. Barlum, John Pridgeon, Jr., and Strathearn Hendrie, Detroit; W. T. Murphy, Newberry; H. Von Schon, Detroit; C. W. Williams, H. T. Cook, W. W. Holmes, C. J. Monroe and G. N. Hale, South Haven; William H. Hull, St. Joseph.

To Raise For Bearing Animals.

Newberry, Mich.—L. D. Carrier, a Detroit man, is engaging in an industry unique to upper Michigan. He proposes to raise fur-bearing animals for their pelts. Mr. Carrier has purchased an eighty-acre tract a few miles from Laketon, Luce county, and has fenced the land with finely woven and substantial wire. He will stock the area with beaver, fox, muskrat and skunk. The tract contains a good sized lake and is regarded as ideal for the purpose.

Secretary of Interior for Islands.

Washington—Winfred T. Denison, an assistant attorney-general in the department of justice, has been selected for secretary of the interior of the Philippine islands.

His nomination is expected to go to the senate soon. Mr. Denison is 40 years old, was graduated from Harvard, and was prominent in the government's prosecution of the sugar frauds.

Cornelius Holksema, of Muskegon, ex-alderman and pioneer of the country, is dead at the age of 82.

The heir of the estate of the late David Shaffer, of Caro, will receive over a quarter million dollars. This is the second administration of funds and comprises $268,374.44.

The will of Nellie Davenport, of Battle Creek, has aroused the curiosity of her attorney and the court, as it provides that the sum of $2,800 be left to Edward Gore, a former Battle Creek policeman. It also provides that Gore shall purchase a lot in Oak Hill cemetery for $100 and that upon his death his body shall be interred in the same lot as her own.

An Michigan is not situated in the corn belt and is not a "ring" state, it will get none of the $75,000 appropriated by the federal government to study and combat box cholera.

"If I can be cured of crime by going under the surgeon's knife, I will gladly prepare myself for the operating table," wrote a county prisoner, in an appeal to Judge George W. DUDLEY FIELD MALONE

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

POSTAL INSPECTORS AFTER POT HUNTERS WHO SEND BIRDS BY MAIL.

NO DOGS ALLOWED IN WOODS IN DEER SEASON.

Law Is Intended to Keep Bird Dogs Out of Those Parts of the Woods Where There Are Deer and Will Be Enforced.

[By Gurd M. Hayes]

Lansing, Mich.—Federal postal inspectors are in Michigan investigating reports that the parcels post system is being used by Wisconsin and Illinois pot hunters in flagrant violation of the game laws of this state, and State Game Warden W. R. Oates says that if convictions are secured some heavy fines may be imposed on the violators.

The laws of Michigan relative to the hunting of partridges provide that a hunter shall not kill more than six partridges in one day, nor shall he have more than fifteen in his possession at any one time. This year the partridge hunting in the northern counties of the state is the best in many seasons and thousands of birds have been killed.

Hunters may bring 15 partridges home with them, but they must be carried as open hand baggage by the successful nimrod and can not be packed in a suit case or shipped by mail, freight or express. Deputy Game Wardens while going through baggage cars have suddenly had their dogs come to a point on a trunk or some other article of baggage and an investigation has generally revealed the fact that an attempt was being made to smuggle birds in violation of the law.

The new parcels post law seems to have opened a new field, as it has been reported to the state game warden and the postal authorities that partridges are being shipped out of Michigan by Wisconsin and Illinois pot hunters through the medium of the parcels post. It is claimed that the breasts of the partridges are removed, wrapped in oil paper and placed in a package, generally the size of a shoe box. Then the hunter purchases parcel post stamps and affixing the required number on the package, drops it in the postoffice. He is not required to sign his name and unless the contraband game is apprehended at the other end of the line, there is little chance of capturing the pot hunter. It is said that many furs and skins were shipped out of Michigan in this manner last winter, and it became known that the government authorities are making a thorough investigation and prosecutions may result.

No amendment to the game laws passed by the legislature in recent years has caused the state game warden department as much worry as the section of the present statute which provides that the presence of a dog in the woods, hunting camp, logging camp, or club house during the deer hunting season shall be prima facie evidence of its unlawful use.

State Game Warden Oates says that there is no truth in the statement that dogs found in the woods will be shot by deputies, unless they are running deer, but the animals will be taken and held as evidence against their owners.

In order to curb the abuses arising from dogs running deer in the country where deer are to be found, it is my understanding that the legislature intended that no dogs of any kind should be permitted in the woods, hunting camp, logging camp or club house from November 10 to the end of the deer season November 30, both dates inclusive," said Warden Oates.

In the interest of conserving the deer and prohibiting dogs from running them, it seems to me that the law should be strictly enforced as the legislature intended. The reference made in some quarters to the effect that dogs found in hunting camps, etc., will be shot on sight during the hunting season, is in error. Dogs so found will be seized and condemned by due process of law. Dogs pursuing or following upon the tracks of a deer are, under the statute, a public nuisance and may be killed by any person without criminal or civil liability.

"This ruling does not prohibit the hunting of partridges without dogs in the deer country during the open season, neither is it intended to prohibit the use of bird dogs for hunting birds in such places where no deer are to be found, but it is intended to preclude the presence of dogs in the woods in sections of the state where deer are to be found. In other words, the section of the law referred to that the 'presence of a dog' should be 'prima facie evidence of its unlawful use' was intended to nullify the subterfuge often resorted to by some who use dogs during the season in a deer country, that the dogs are only used for hunting birds.

The legislature was cognizant of the tendencies of many so-called bird dogs to run deer and while their owners may be good intentioned, the difficulty of restraining their bird or rab-

MRS. CLARK CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Michigan Equal Suffrage Association Meets at Jackson and Elects Officers.

Jackson, Mich.—Mrs. O. H. Clark, of Kalamazoo, was elected president of the Michigan Equal Suffrage association, defeating Mrs. Jennie Law Conger, of Muskegon, and F. C. Butler, of Kalamazoo, was appointed acting secretary in the place of Otto Carmichael, of Detroit. Both of these men will serve until the annual meeting to be held in Jackson early in the year.

Warden James Russell, of Marquette prison, who was here for a conference with Gov. Ferris says that he has found a way to cure dope fiends and men addicted to the use of whisky which is very simple and mighty effective. Instead of administering dope in small quantities to a new convict and gradually cutting off the supply each day, Warden Russell has found that it is possible to cure the most confirmed dope head by simply reforming his cocaine, morphine or whatever drug he craves.

"During the first ten days of this cure it is pretty tough on the man I'll admit," said Warden Russell, "but when his mind finally masters the fact that there is no dope to be had, he doesn't attempt suicide as some might expect, but he resigns himself to his fate and is unconsciously cured. After about two weeks of enforced abstinence from dope the man begins to take on flesh, and I have had some of the most dangerous criminals ever sent to Marquette here to personally after they had been cured, for the rather strenuous treatment that had been administered."

"It does not occur to me that the fact that the oath is administered by the clerk in the capacity of notary public changes the situation," says Fellows. "As pointed out in a previous opinion first provision was incorporated in the measure introduced in the legislature for the compensation of the county clerk for services rendered under the act. On its passage through the legislature the clause making such provision was stricken out thus clearly indicating the intention of the legislature to provide no compensation for the clerk in performing the extra duties placed upon him."

HINTS WORTH KNOWING.

SOME THANKSGIVING GOODIES.

The time-honored dishes which are inseparable from Thanksgiving are so often discussed that a few different ways of serving the common vegetables may be of interest at this time.

Beets that are baked in the oven have a better flavor than when they are boiled. Carrots should be taken in turning them not to break the skin. Serve them sliced or chopped, seasoned with butter and pepper and salt.

Stuffed Onions.—Take as many onions as there are people to serve, parboil them until tender but not broken.

Drain, remove the centers when cold, chop them of these centers and mix with cup of cold cooked ham, finely chopped. Molaten with cream and one part Japan dryer, mixed.

The yolk of an egg, well-beaten. Fill the centers with this mixture.

Place a piece of butter on the top of each, put into a deep dish and bake. Pour a little milk about them and bake a few minutes covered, then remove the cover, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and when brown, serve.

Braised Cabbage.—After cutting a good sized cabbage in half, soak it in cold water for an hour or more. Then boil quickly in plenty of boiling salted water. Drain and remove the stalk from the center, after cooking twenty minutes. Put into a sauce pan one sliced carrot, one sliced turnip, one stalk of celery, a few sprigs of parsley, one sliced onion and a bunch of any herbs. Lay the cabbage on top, pour over two cupsfuls of stock and boil until tender. Drain. Lay on a hot dish and serve at once.

Young Carrots.—Scrape the carrots and put them into a sauce pan with a small onion, a bay leaf, a little salt and pepper. Cover with stock and stew until tender. Place on a dish around a mound of mashed potatoes.

Fried Celery.—Wash nice pieces of celery and simmer in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and cut in halves, lengthwise; brush over with beaten egg, seasoned with salt and pepper. Fry in deep fat and when a light brown remove and drain.

Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

When the large, fresh mushrooms may be obtained, there is nothing more delicious to serve with a stuffing or forcemeat made of chopped ham, and seasonings, filling the caps, and then bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

Smile awhile, and while
You smile, another smiles,
And soon there's miles
And miles of smiles.

And life's worth while
Because you smile.

CHESTNUT TIME.

This delicious nut is so good in many ways that those who are fortunate enough to have plenty are to be congratulated.

As a stuffing for fowl they are a great delicacy. Boil and mash and season well with butter, salt and red pepper. The addition of bread crumbs helps in filling a large turkey. Mushrooms or oysters may be substituted for part of the chestnuts, if so desired.

Onion, thyme or sage is added for seasoning. Plain boiled chestnuts, mashed and seasoned, are a delicious dish served as a vegetable.

French Chestnut Soup.—Peel and boil a quart of large chestnuts in salted water, remove the brown skins and chop fine. Add a teaspoonful each of salt and sugar, the rind of a lemon and a quart of water; bring to a boil and cook slowly for an hour. Rub through a sieve, add two quarts of veal or chicken stock, a teaspoonful of parsley, finely minced, a tablespoonful of flour and butter well blended, and season with red pepper. Simmer twenty minutes, stirring all the time. Put through a sieve and serve. A yolk of egg well beaten may be added just before serving, if so desired. It makes a richer soup.

Chestnut Pancakes.—Beat separately the yolks and whites of three eggs, add three-fourths of a cup of cream, a tablespoonful each of butter and sugar with sufficient flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder to make a batter. When the cakes are baked, spread with chestnut puree, seasoned with salt and mixed with a little cream. Roll the cakes and fasten with toothpicks. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and brown in the oven.

Apple Custard.—Add a cup of sugar to a cupful of grated apple, two eggs well beaten, one cup of sweet cream and the grated rind of a lemon. Pour into a pie plate lined with pastry, and bake.

Cream Pie.—Bake a rich crust, and when cool fill with sweetened whipped cream flavored with vanilla. Just before serving dot with bits of red jelly.

Sour Cream Pie.—Take a cupful of sugar, chopped raisins and sour cream; add one egg well beaten, one-half teaspoonful each of cinnamon, nutmeg and salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of cloves and a teaspoonful of vinegar. Bake with two crusts.

Apple Custard.—Add a cup of sugar to a cupful of grated apple, two eggs well beaten, one cup of sweet cream and the grated rind of a lemon. Pour into a pie plate lined with pastry, and bake.

Any fruit may be put into a baked shell, covered with egg white and baked making a very attractive pie.

Prevailing Styles in the New Shoes.

It is appropriate for the demi-toilet or the tailor-made.

Elegant and more showy shoes are shown with patent vamp and gray buckskin top, and others with patent vamp and tops in shepherd check or in cloth or suede leather matching a gown in color. These made-to-match shoes are effective, but not essential to a proper shoe outfitting for the average woman.

The styles now prevailing and those just preceding them have brought the fact into prominence. It is not the fashion to conceal them, but to clothe them daintily and set the flimsiest of draperies about them. Lace and chiffon petticoat, slashed skirts and hanging draperies all bespeak attention to fine footwear.

For evening dress there is a variety in slippers to choose from. Black satin with a French heel is a great favorite. The range of ornamentation on the toes of evening slippers is quite wide also.

In black or bronze there is the strapped slipper with bead embroidery. It is a graceful shoe and a fine choice for those who need only one pair of slippers with which to look the season's full dress occasions in the face. It is dressy enough for any wear.

The price of good shoes has advanced because the materials of which they are made cost more than they have heretofore. There is no economy in buying cheap shoes. The expenditure at the end of a year will be greater if one keeps the feet respectfully clothed, if cheap shoes are bought than if the better grades are worn. If one must economize let it be in some other direction and not in the matter of footwear. Quality cannot be sacrificed here without of a certainty involving both economy and comfort in the end.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

The coiffure is finished with an ornated band and single, curling spray of Paradise. The band in this costume is made of flat jade beads matching those worn with the costume about the neck. But there are innumerable bands, those of black gauze or velvet and rhinestones being among the most effective.

The costume worn by the handsome brunette is of black velvet and silver embroidered net, with a skirt which appears to wrap about the figure, terminating in a high waist line. The rather scanty bodice is made of white chiffon. With a drapery of gossamer lace it would be much prettier and more in keeping with American ideas of modesty, which criticism is made without apologies to the great designer, who, with such wonderful fabrics to work with, yet missed the final finishing touch by placing a glorious skirt with an insignificant waist on so splendid a model.

The coiffure suits the style of the wearer and her costume. It is one of those that almost any one will find becoming, except women with very thin faces and necks. For them there are other designs which soften or conceal their defects.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

Slashed Petticoat.

We have had the "tango" gown; now has descended upon us the "tango" petticoat. This latest addition to the wardrobe of the fashionable woman is made of but two pieces, with seams in the side, which, needless to say, are open to a point just above the knee. The front and back breadth of the petticoat are scalloped, sloping gradually up to the joining of the seams at the knee. The garment in this instance is edged with a plaited ruff of the silk of which the skirt is made, but lace of almost any kind would be nearly as effective. To regulate the height of the skirt slashes on each side of the openings there have been sown crocheted rings, through which a lacing of ribbon is passed.

Then the lock at the middle of the forehead is parted and brought down at each side over the ears to the nape of the neck. The ends (the lock being light) are tucked under the waved hair covering the coll and pinned into place with invisible pins.

A light fringe of hair curled in flat, short ringlets is cut across the forehead in a line more or less curved or straight, as best becomes the wearer. These ringlets must be flattened to the head to preserve the correct lines in this coiffure. This may be done by tying them down with a light veil for a few minutes.

All Shades of Gray.

Gray in all possible shades is one of the colors of the season. Pearl gray is being most successfully combined with white velvet and ermine for really rich tea gowns; and a deep shade of smoke gray is being very much used for mantles in conjunction with bands of smoke gray fox. All shades of rich blue are in demand in such materials as velours de laine and liberty cambric. Costumes in these materials are trimmed with bands of cable or of black fox, and the grace of the moment seems to be for Chinese embroideries of the finest description.

A man and a nation deteriorate when they lower their standard of right and wrong, when they sacrifice their principles to expediency—Derek Vane.

ORANGES AND LEMONS

THEIR USEFULNESS AND VALUE IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

As Foundations for Dishes, and as Flavoring, They Are Essentially Desirable in the Household Menu.

Enormous numbers of oranges are being imported into our markets now; and they are of the greatest value to us, for their wholesome acids are greatly needed by persons who eat as much meat as we do.

This month we find many blood oranges and these are of extra fine flavor. They are produced by grafting orange slips into pomegranate stocks and this fruit is greatly prized by epicures; unfortunately these grafts do not bear so profusely as the true orange tree.

Orange marmalade is the favorite preserve of orange lovers; the Scotch recipe for this dainty has been given in this column before, but the following recipe will be found to be superlatively good.

English grated orange marmalade:

Grate the yellow rind off the orange, but do not grate in any of the bitter white lining. Press the orange pulp through a sieve and add a pint of water to every four pounds of fruit. Mix a pound of sugar in for every pound of fruit and boil thirty minutes.

Small oranges crystallized: Remove the skin and white lining from small oranges and take care not to break the sections apart or to puncture the skin for all the juice may stay in.

Thread a sterilized needle with white linen thread and run through the center of each orange so it may be suspended.

Make a heavy frosting with powdered sugar and the white of eggs and dip the oranges into it by the thread so every part is covered.

Now hang the frosted oranges on a stick so they do not touch one another and suspend in a hot oven to dry. When the frosting is firm they are done. These little comfits are very pretty in boxes of homemade sweet meat.

Two recipes have been received for using lemons from a reader of this section who is so fortunate as to own a lemon grove in California. One is for preserved lemon peel. Peel the yellow rind from the lemons with as little white fiber as possible. Make a thick syrup of sugar and water and simmer the peel in it. In a half hour the rind will be tender and may be put in small glasses and covered with the syrup and then sealed with paraffin. The other recipe will be useful when lemons are at their lowest price; it is for preserving lemon juice.

Roll the lemons and squeeze all the juice from them; strain it through very fine muslin so no pulp goes through. Have perfectly clean bottles waiting, with new corks. Pour the juice in until within half an inch from the top. Now pour on a thin layer of paraffin; when this hardens cork tightly and keep in a cool place.

This correspondent says that the juice will keep perfectly fresh until used.

Pumpkin Pie.

Steal pumpkin, cut into small pieces, in half pint of water, and, when soft, mash with a potato masher very fine; let the water dry away, watching closely to prevent burning or scorching. For each pie take one well beaten egg, half cup sugar, two tablespoonsfuls of pumpkin, half pint rich milk (a little cream will improve it), a little salt, stir well together, and season with cinnamon or nutmeg; bake with a good under crust in a hot oven. Some steam the pumpkin instead of stewing it.

Solution of Industrial Wars.

Employers and employees come next. The employer who knows Jesus Christ will serve his employer faithfully because he will be serving Christ. There will be no more eye-service. He will not be looking at the clock for quitting time, nor loafing when the foreman's back is turned. He is aware that another is keeping the record whose eye is everywhere, and that of him he shall receive the reward.

But the employer who knows Jesus Christ will act toward his employee correspondingly. He will not be a hard, unappreciative master, knowing that he himself has a master in heaven who is no respecter of persons. Here is the solution of industrial wars.

The gospel can do what unions and amalgamations and strikes and lockouts can never do. The trust patriots and philanthropists are the men and women in our pulpits, our mission halls, and on the street corners testifying to the saving and keeping power of the Son of God.

In other words it is not "social service" that the world so much needs today as it is salvation. The "social service" movement is good, and has a large constituency and large financial support. Several well-known millionaires have each given a larger sum within a few years, for educational and philanthropic enterprises than all which is spent annually for the support of the whole number of Christian churches in the United States. Organizations and agencies for social betterment are multiplying today to a bewildering extent. There is an agency to meet almost every kind of distress of man, woman or child, we are glad of it, but as a careful and wide observer has affirmed, "the more closely the facts are examined the more apparent the inadequacy and ineffectiveness of the measure thus employed." And he goes on to ask, "As the limitations of social effort thus become more sharply defined, is it not of place to suggest that there may be a factor in the problem of great significance which has been almost entirely neglected?" That factor, we believe, is the gospel of Jesus Christ. Bring men to Christ, and let his Spirit fill them, and all our problems are solved.

Vegetable Salad.

Lay lettuce leaves on your dish, then cold potatoes sliced fine, onions chopped fine. You can use at different times beets, carrots, turnips or any other vegetable sliced, with hard-boiled eggs and salad dressing. We do not like lettuce, but we have salads just the same.—Boston Globe.

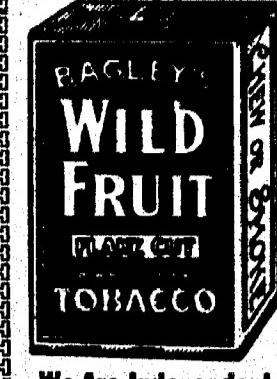

Swiss Eggs.

Four eggs, one-half cup cream, one tablespoon butter, one-fourth cup grated cheese, salt and pepper. Heat the butter and cream together, break in the eggs, whole, sprinkle with salt and pepper. When nearly done, add the cheese. Serve on buttered toast. Strain the cream over the toast.

Sweet Potato Squash.

Wash and halve the squash, then scrape out the seeds and loose pulp. Place in oven and bake until tender, if pierced with fork. If squash are small, serve in halves, if large quarter or cut into convenient sections. Season with butter, salt and pepper at the table.

The Grayling schools have just received a very valuable gift. It consists of one thousand of the noted Underwood & Underwood stereographic views, one dozen stereoscopes, together with a neat cabinet for the views and a case for the scopes. The gift comes as a surprise to the pupils, and teachers. The outfit will be a most excellent help in the study of geography, history and physical geography. No one who has not seen the difference between a stereograph and an ordinary photographic view, can comprehend the value of this collection. The donor is one of our townswomen, Mrs. R. Hanson, who makes the gift entirely from the kindness and generosity of her heart. It is one way she has of expressing her interest in the welfare of the boys and girls of Grayling.

There was a good attendance at the Catholic Ladies' chicken pie supper at the opera house last evening. The supper with the apron and candy booths netted the ladies $140.00. This annual chicken supper is always a pleasant event. Wish they might have them more often.

The first accident to be reported here among the deer hunters was by an old gentleman from Dakota, who was visiting relatives in this part of the state, when he came to Dr. Inley's office Tuesday with a finger shot off. It is said that he slipped and fell, and at the same time placed his finger over the muzzle of the gun, when it discharged.

An evening thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended was spent last Thursday when Miss Lilas and Burnette Cassidy entertained the G. G. G. club. With the dainty refreshments following the usual hour of merrymaking, cake decorated with the symbols of the club was served, which attracted much deserved attention. The members left declaring the Misses Cassidy's charming hostesses.

The village has completed about a half mile or more, of stone road, leading from the old bridge toward the flooring factory, and connecting with the new township road on the South Side. The road is 16 feet wide and has a dressing of 6 inches. It is a very fine piece of road work, and a much needed improvement as that particular piece of highway was in poor condition and one that was used a great deal. One good feature about this piece of work is the small cost of construction as it was built for less than $500. Julius Nelson had charge of the work and the result reflect considerable credit.

Xmas Competitions.

Prizes for best needlework on something for "mother" given to girls. A prize for the best drawing of the M. E. church will be given to boys. Work must be in on the 3rd of December.

FROM THE PINEAPPLE

BUCCULENT FRUIT THE BASIS OF MANY DELICIOUS DISHES.

May Be Utilized in Preparations for Immediate Use or for Preserves That Will Be Welcome in the Winter.

The pineapple should be joyfully welcome, for it is cheap, has good keeping qualities and a clean, delicious flavor. Here are some good pineapple dishes, as given by the Delicatessen:

Pineapple Omelet—Beat three eggs thoroughly with a tablespoonful of sugar, adding at the last a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful each of lemon and pineapple juice. Have the omelet pan hot and well greased, sides and bottom, with a teaspoonful of melted butter or oil. Turn in the beaten eggs, and as they cook, break the omelet once in a while with a silver fork. When still moist, sprinkle on top half of the oatmeal, a cupful of chopped or grated pineapple, canned or fresh, fold over the other half, sprinkle with sugar and serve immediately.

Pineapple Syrup—Slice, peel and dice enough pineapple to make about three pounds. Place in preserving kettle with a pound of sugar and a quart of water and cook until very soft. Mash and strain. Return to the kettle, and to each pint of juice allow a pound of sugar. Cook to a rich sirup and bottle while hot. Use patent stoppers or sealing wax to make airtight. This will be ready for use at any time for sauces or cooling drinks.

Pineapple Sauce for Ice Cream—Put a cupful of fresh pineapple juice in a saucepan with a cupful of granulated sugar and cook ten minutes. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs, and whip with an egg-beater over boiling water until foamy. Take from the fire, add the whipped whites of eggs and serve hot with ice cream. If the pineapple syrup is used, omit the sugar.

Preserved Pineapple—Uncooked—if one has a good cold cellar or store-room the fresh pineapple may be grated and preserved uncooked. Allow a pound of sugar to each pound of grated fruit and let stand in the refrigerator for twelve hours. Then pack into sterilized jars, screw tight, and as an additional precaution cover the top with sterilized cotton batting and tie down firmly. Keep in a cold, dark place.

Pineapple Jelly—Pineapple jelly is worth while preparing for winter use. To make it, pare ripe pineapples and grate them and to each cupful of grated pulp measure out a cupful of sugar.

Add half the sugar to the fruit and let it stand in a covered earthen dish for three hours. Then boil it, very slowly, in a granite or porcelain saucepan until the pulp is soft. Do not use tin, as the pineapple juice sometimes injures the surface of this metal. Let the pulp drip through a jelly bag over night. The next day heat the rest of the sugar on shallow platters in the oven, and in the meantime boil for 15 minutes the juice which has dripped through the jelly bag. Then add the hot sugar, let it melt in the liquid, but do not let it boil any longer, and pour it into glasses.

There has come to our desk an advance copy of the new and revised edition of Dr. Humphreys' Manual.

The cover design, a picture in colors of Noah's ark, was painted especially for this work by one of England's most famous animal painters, is quite wonderful in its breadth and scope.

From Gaylord Advance: The Board of Supervisors certainly did a stroke of good business when they voted to work the county prisoners on the streets and roads. It has always seemed so ridiculous for a county to pay the expense of keeping men who are determined to make themselves public nuisances, without getting anything from them in return. The world is full of men who, when they are in hard luck, like nothing better than to be taken up and lodged in a nice, warm county jail with enough food to keep them from hunger. But sometimes are changed. Instead of lounging near the steam pipes, reading or playing cards, they are given a shovel, a pair of canvas gloves and ordered out on the cold, wet streets to work. With such an uninviting prospect before them as this, those prone to disregard the law will think twice before making themselves liable to arrest.

Miss Camilla Fischer entertained the sewing club with a theatrical party on Tuesday evening after a luncheon had been served at her home. Only few of the members were in the city, so they did not sew.

The most enjoyable amusement was a peanut contest, in which Virginia Bingham won the first prize which was a pretty cup and Margaret Nelson received the consolation. At 6 o'clock a sumptuous supper was served, the table being daintily decorated with chrysanthemums and carnations. After supper out of door games were enjoyed until 7:00 o'clock when all departed for their homes. The young ladies received many pretty gifts. The Misses Myrtle, Lillian, Rose, Marion and Master Sidney Gassell of Lewiston were out of town guests.

Salling, Hanson Co. are building an addition to their store building. In the basement of the same they will install the heating plant for the building. The main floor they will convert into a rest room for their store patrons and people coming into the city from the country. It will contain a lavatory and toilet, and comfortable seats and things will be made cozy and comfortable. The work is now well underway and will be finished within a few weeks. This will not only be a splendid improvement to their store, but a fine institution for the town as well, for a rest room is something every city should have, for the comfort of many people, especially ladies, who come to the towns every week for trading and other business. We are sure that the efforts of the Company will have the thanks of an appreciative community.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Providence R. I. School Committee, held Friday, October 9, the annual report of the superintendent concerning the previous school contained the following concerning the examination of the eyes of the pupils of the public schools: "Even greater attention should be devoted to the eyes. A little care, the use of spectacles for a short time in childhood, may not only prevent youthful headaches and mental troubles, but secure perfect vision in later life. The childish scowl frequently indicates defective eyesight. Until we bestow the same care upon our children which Germany, for military reasons, gives to its prospective soldier, we cannot hope for the more perfect vision which marks the German student and the German peasant of military age. He who gazes at the schoolroom door into a university classroom is surprised not to see more "aids to vision" worn by the students."

"Look here, Mike Casey, what's this I'm hearing about yer doin's at the gymnasium? Don't ye know it's poor we are, an' havin' no money to pay for yer destructive carryin' on?"

"Why, what do ye mean, mither?" asked the astonished Mike.

WORKS ALL DAY
And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts Food.

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

A Ga. man was able to keep it up with ease after he had learned the sustaining power of Grape-Nuts, although he had failed in health before he changed his food supply. He says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water."

"The nervous strain at my office from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M. and improper foods caused my health to fail rapidly. Cereal and so-called 'Foods' were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper."

"In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts."

"It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied; nerves quieted and toned up, body and brain waste restored. I would have been a living skeleton, or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts."

DOMESTICATING THE WILD TURKEY

A PAIR OF WILD HOLLAND TURKEYS
By L. M. BENNINGTON

That the wild turkey can not only be tamed but that he is much harder than his tame brother and that the cross between the native wild turkey and the Bronze makes the handsomest bird of the turkey tribe has been demonstrated most successfully by experiments along these lines.

An enterprising Virginian was lucky enough a few years ago to capture five baby wild turkey chicks—they were only two days old when he caught them.

They were given to a tame turkey hen—who already had a brood of young ones—after they had been in captivity only two days.

At first these shy little fellows seemed to distrust everything, but soon became accustomed to the Virginian, who paid particular attention to his mixed flock, bringing them berries and other delicacies, at the same time teaching them to come to his call to be fed.

Every one of the five birds grew up and they turned out to be one gobbler and four hens. It is interesting to note that although there was a mortality of 50 per cent among the domestic birds that season, the five wild turkeys were not affected in any way.

At the approach of winter a wire enclosure was made, this was also covered over with wire, making a perfectly enclosed space of 150x15 feet, and at one end was a small tree that was enclosed in a 25-foot round of wire fencing—a natural roosting place—the enclosed space had a growth of bushes and wild vines growing upon it, also a natural sod.

The turkeys put in this limited space must naturally be fed on such stuff as would as nearly as possible resemble the food that nature intended for them, so they were given corn, wheat, oats, wild berries, acorns, persimmons, grit in abundance, and fresh water ad libitum.

The winter season passed, the birds were well and hearty. With the advent of spring, the hens made their nests in the enclosure, where honeysuckle vines afforded the privacy that they so longed for. Later on the young pouls arrived, both they and their half-domesticated mothers showed aversion to man, their natural enemy—so the broods were taken away from the wild hens and were given to some bronze hens, who raised 38 birds out of a hatch of 40.

The first adventure being as successful, the Virginian followed out the same methods with the 38 birds that he had used with the original five, and the loss of only two birds was a striking example of the hardiness of the wild birds.

It is interesting to note that after the young birds and their mothers had been given their freedom, they showed no disposition to revert to their wild state, but always returned home at night, roosting on the upper limbs of their tree along with the other turkeys, the young birds taking more kindly to domestic ways than their parents.

After two years of hard work the Virginian began to realize some financial returns from his labor, and the 28 birds above mentioned, were sold at a price aggregating slightly more than $400, while the extra eggs gave him another $250. The price of the young hens was $1 each, while that received from gobblers was from $12 to $20 each. Eggs easily sold at $1 apiece. At present he is getting $15 for hens and $20 for gobblers.

Keeping 11 birds during the second winter, 102 chicks were hatched, and 75 of these were raised to maturity, the losses were caused by accident or dogs and not by disease, although the domestic birds on the farm that year were decimated.

The wild turkeys roosted under the wire enclosure, the domestic birds over it. The droppings of the latter naturally fell into the enclosure. None of the wild turkeys contracted the fatal disease, but showed themselves not only immune to it, but to a long spell of wet weather. These birds have been thoroughly tested and have shown themselves immune to the dread disease, black head, as well as from other diseases which affect the domestic breeds.

Experiments have demonstrated that an infusion of wild blood will undoubtedly make a harder strain of domestic turkey.

In order that there will not be inbreeding to an extent that would reduce the natural vitality of the birds, fine specimens of wild turkeys from Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, North Carolina, and other sections have been secured from hunters and others interested in the experiment.

Believing that the domestic bird of the present day is not descended from the native turkey, as is commonly supposed, but traces its origin back to the Mexican wild turkey, which was domesticated in Mexico at the time of the conquest, the Virginian advocates the crossing of the native turkey with the wild Mexican bird.

Finding a couple of wild turkey eggs last summer, and upon examination finding they would soon hatch out, he placed them in a basket over an electric globe which hung in his room, the globe being of ordinary 16-candlepower. The bottom of the basket was protected by a piece of cardboard; over this was placed a small piece of flannel. The eggs were allowed to remain thus placed until hatched.

The globe gave out a heat of from 98 to 102 degrees, and soon the two eggs developed two fine, healthy chicks.

These were taken out to the farm and both of them were thriving until one of them tried to swallow a small lizard, which choked it to death.

These turkeys are now raised with white Holland hens, and when young birds are three-fourths grown they are put under wire enclosures, raising them under as natural conditions as possible.

IS THE DELECTABLE TURKEY DOOMED TO PASS FOREVER

By L. M. BENNINGTON.

Many a city man, when he comes to pay from five to seven dollars for his Thanksgiving turkey this fall, will be quite ready to affirm that personally he has no objection to the passing of the turkey, even as a holiday piece de resistance.

Prices of turkeys this year are higher than ever before. Last year in the largest cities, first-class birds brought from 35 to 50 cents per pound and a five-dollar bill was hardly adequate to secure a bird that would sufficiently serve an ordinary-sized family.

This year prices will be higher still, in spite of the fact that dealers have been scouring the country for months, making contracts in advance, and putting into cold storage every bird that could be secured, long before the holiday season opened.

The advice given by experts in the disease is to quit breeding turkeys wherever it appears, and this is responsible in a very large degree for the rapid curtailment of the industry in the eastern states.

The ravages of the turkey-raising industry appear at present to lie in the west, and those portions of the south which have so far escaped this dread disease began to destroy the flocks in the New England states.

The ravages of this disease have become so great that in Rhode Island, which was once the great turkey state, none are now being raised. The disease has spread to other states throughout the east, and its ravaging effects have been so disastrous that thousands of farmers in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New Hampshire all formerly good turkey states, have practically given up the business.

This disease has invaded the west to some extent, but its ravages have been checked because the means of preventing it are now much better understood than ever before, owing to the industrial and intelligent investigations started several years ago by the Rhode Island Experiment station, and supplemented by the work of the United States department of agriculture.

Helping Him to Play Better.

Charles Brookfield, the co-censor of plays, who has been very ill lately, has the reputation of being one of the wittiest men in London, says Pearson's Weekly.

He once ran a theatrical season at the Haymarket theater. It was not very successful; in fact, the theater was nearly empty every evening, and the box office returns were heart-breaking.

One night the manager asked Mr. Brookfield as he was going on the Blackhead is a disease of the liver and intestines which produces a form of dysentery and is caused by minute parasites, and called blackhead, because the heads of the affected birds turn black at a certain stage of the disease.

Blackhead destroys about four-fifths of the young turkeys before they are six weeks old, and of the remaining one-fifth, one tenth to one-fifth die at a later period.

The advice given by experts in the disease is to quit breeding turkeys wherever it appears, and this is responsible in a very large degree for the rapid curtailment of the industry in the eastern states.

If young turkeys are carefully handled by the same person they can be easily driven from one place to another, and when storms come on they will bring a price enough higher to pay for the labor involved.

Turkeys are great rangers, but as they quickly become attached to their attendant, it is not difficult to control them. They should be fed and cared for by the same person from the time they are hatched until they are ready for the market. In this way they will learn to come at the call of the attendant, and follow him for long distances, from the fields to the coops.

CUT HAIR OFF OF 94 WOMEN

Paris Police Arrest Man Suffering From Strange and Peccular Mania.

Paris.—In searching the flat of a certain Paris sybarite, by name Laramourg, the police found the hair of no less than 94 women, the whole estimated by a coiffeur to be worth $500 for toupees and pateches.

Laramourg enticed the confiding creatures to his house and having hypnotized them cut off their hair. His very shaving brushes bristled with what has been described as "the capillary attachment of female scalp."

Rubber Chair Tips.

Rubber tips for the dining-room chairs will save the hardwood floors from constant scratching. The tips cost little and save both work and the floors. The dining-room chairs are so likely to be pushed back in a way to mar the polish of the floor that these chairs in particular should be protected with tips.

COTTAGE PUDDING ALL LIKE

Equally a Favorite With the Grown-Ups As With the Younger Members of the Family.

One cup of flour, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of milk, one saltspoonful of salt and one egg. Mix the baking powder with the flour and salt. Cream the butter and sugar and beat into the egg; add the milk which salt has been dissolved, then the flour. Beat well together and turn into a cake tin having a tube in the center. Bake about 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Turn into a flat dish, leaving bottom side up. Serve with a rich sauce; a good chocolate sauce recipe follows: Melt three ounces of chocolate, add one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of boiling water; stir until smooth. Flavor with one-quarter teaspoonful of vanilla.

Fruit Jelly.

Cover the contents of one box of gelatin with one pint of water, and after standing half an hour add one-half pint of sugar and one quart of boiling water, the grated rind of one lemon and the juice also. Pare apricots, or peaches, or pears, and the softest ones use for the jelly, reserving the firmest for garnishing the dish. Press the softest fruit through sieve and sprinkle with a little lemon juice to prevent its becoming discolored; then, after preparing the gelatin and setting the dish in a pan of crushed ice, slowly stir until it begins to thicken; now fold in the fruit pulp and turn into a dish, either plain or fancy. Set on ice until firm. Dip the dish a moment in hot water; invert onto a cold dish and garnish with the fruit and whipped cream, or pass a dish of plain cream when serving.

Simple Wood Stain.

When the home carpenter is ready to stain the table or bench he has made, it may be quickly done at the cost a few cents. A water solution of bichromate of potassium is first applied, an ounce or so dissolved in a quart of water. Rub it on with a rag, and in a few minutes rub it off. Then apply a weak solution of water of logwood and rub off soon. The result is a rich brown. The strength of the solution and the time of application make the difference in the shade.

Declare War on Colds.

A crusade of education which aims that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation" has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of "douts" which the doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the colds:

"Don't sit in a draughty car."

"Don't sleep in hot rooms."

"Don't avoid the fresh air."

"Don't stuff yourself at meal time."

Over eating reduces your resistance.

To which we would add—when you take a cold get rid of it as quickly as possible. To accomplish this you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most excellent. Sold by all dealers.

Ancient Smiths.

It is quite wrong to assume that the name Smith is derived from the fact that the original brenners were workers in metal. In reality, Smith is a very old name, far more ancient than Anglo-Saxon. The oldest known bearers of the name were brewers, and it was in use many thousand years ago in mighty Egypt.
